ARCIS GOLF'S THE CLUB AT PRADERA AND THE PINERY COUNTRY CLUB REDEFINE THE PRIVATE CLUB EXPERIENCE

Renowned for its hometown feel and breathtaking topography, the small town of Parker, Colorado is fast becoming known for something else: Its pair of remarkable private golf and lifestyle clubs, located just two miles apart from each other in the shadows of the Rocky Mountains. Operated by leading golf management firm Arcis Golf, The Club at Pradera and The Pinery Country Club represent the newest breed of private clubs, delivering superb golf as well as an array of fitness, swim, tennis and social amenities designed to engage every member of the family.

Distinctive in character yet equally impressive, both clubs offer an expanse of exclusive privileges and a unique sense of belonging that make choosing between the two a difficult task – or at least, that used to be the case. Now, thanks to the clubs' new Summit golf membership, members can enjoy access to both luxurious clubs, encompassing 45 holes of magnificent golf; two gorgeous clubhouse facilities; two private restaurants; three swimming pools; eight outdoor and three indoor tennis courts; two fitness centers; impressive junior golf and tennis academies; inclusion in year-round events at both clubs; and other superb benefits, all for one attractive price.

It's sibling revelry at its best according to Arcis Golf's Mark Lewicki, membership sales director for both clubs, who helped to launch and refine the Summit membership. "Each of these extraordinary golf gems has its own unique strengths and advantages, making this dynamic two-club membership option hard to beat," said Lewicki. "Individually, each is a best-of-class lifestyle club that exceeds members' needs and expectations at every turn. And together, they offer unrivaled opportunities for golf, socializing, recreation and family bonding, not to mention an amazing variety of amenities and four-season activities. There are simply no other clubs in the South Denver area offering the full country club experience during all seasons of the year."

The Club at Pradera is the centerpiece to the Pradera luxury home community; however, residence is not required for membership. The club's majestic Colorado mountain clubhouse and superlative Jim Engh-designed Irish links-style course set the tone for a unique setting that blends old world Irish charm with upscale, modern influences with a Colorado twist. Engh, whose bevy of award-winning courses has raised the bar for golf in Colorado, makes a bold statement at Pradera, where each hole combines stunning aesthetics with unpredictable cleverness. In many cases, the holes were sculpted to blend harmoniously with their pristine natural surroundings in homage to Ireland's wispy ragged Irish links, with some areas completely untouched. In others, the land was reshaped with ponds and wetlands, creating a more modern look and feel. The result is an astonishing collection of visually stunning, strategically diverse holes that are as imaginative as they are fun to play for golfers of all ages and abilities.

"Each of these extraordinary golf gems has its own unique strengths and advantages"

World-class sports, recreational and leisure amenities abound at Pradera, anchored by the club's magnificent Marsh & Associates-designed clubhouse – a focal point for member hospitality that is distinctly Colorado casual. A fine dining restaurant, indoor and outdoor dining in Longs Peak Grill, full-service golf shop, expansive golf practice facility with music on the range, two all-weather tennis courts, state-of-the-art fitness center, pool complex, and miles of rugged trails for hiking, biking and ambling offer innumerable opportunities for family fun and recreation, while a year-round schedule of events ranging from wine dinners and summer concerts to golf and tennis league play, family barbecues and holiday festivities help foster lifelong friendships and lasting memories.

The Pinery Country Club's cozier, more intimate clubhouse reflects the understated elegance and stately nonchalance of this traditional full-service luxury private club. Three distinctive, extraordinary nine-hole courses, which can be played in any combination, enable golfers to enjoy a unique and adventurous challenge every time they play. The Mountain Nine features dramatic elevation changes, panoramic vistas, and play among dense Ponderosa Pines, while the Lake Nine boasts the most exquisite views on the property – climbing from the clubhouse past Bingham Lake to the 5th green and 6th tee, where the entire frontage from Pike's Peak to Long's Peak is visible. From there, the Lake course tumbles down into the Valley Nine, a Scottish links-style layout in a high plains setting which is highlighted by the club's diabolical 3rd hole, the most challenging at The Pinery.

The Pinery's superb golf is complemented by a collection of top-notch sports and recreational amenities, including an extensive golf practice facility; exclusive tennis facility featuring six outdoor courts, three indoor courts and a tennis and sport shop featuring the latest premium-brand tennis apparel and equipment; a fitness center offering Matrix strength-training equipment; three swimming pools; casual poolside or upscale private dining experiences; and an extensive year-round schedule of member dining and social events, ranging from weekly kids' club activities and culinary experiences to holiday parties, parent-child golf and tennis championships, daddy-daughter dances and other unique opportunities. Spa services including facials and professional massage therapy are also available.

The Club at Pradera and The Pinery Country Club represent Arcis Golf's first of what is now enviable collection of private and resort clubs and including many of the nation's most lauded golf and lifestyle clubs.
